

Building Emotionally Intelligent Leaders in your Organization

This webinar is specifically designed for HR leaders curious about implementing an EQ program within their organization but don't know where to start. LeedHR will present information, research, and examples on why and how to build emotionally intelligent leaders in your organization.

By the end of this session, you will learn:

- What is emotional intelligence and why it's relevant in leadership
- How EQ can complement your current L&D programs
- Where to start when considering building an EQ program that fits in your organization
- A few sustainability tools and practices.

OUR PRESENTER: Charles Fortier

In his current role as co-founder of LeedHR, Charles is responsible for both development and delivery of Emotional Intelligence Client Programs. He is passionate about the importance of EQ in today's business environments and knows from his professional experience as a leader, it is the key to unlocking better team engagement and results. Prior to founding LeedHR, Charles held multiple senior leadership roles in the human capital industry in both corporate and start-up environments. He has built teams from scratch as well as lead established teams. His clients have enjoyed working with him for his personable disposition and strong working relationships.

Originally from Sherbrooke, Quebec, he holds a B.A. A degree in Marketing from Sherbrooke University and he's also a certified Master Trainer of the EQ-i 2.0® and EQ 360. In 2014, Charles attended IMD Business School in Leadership Management. Having been living in Toronto since 2006, he's fluent in both French and English.

In his free time, Charles is a fitness enthusiast. You can regularly see him running the streets of Toronto looking to prepare for his next race. Finally, in the odd chance you would like to challenge him to NBA trivia, be warned that he will win hands down as Charles has been a passionate basketball fan for more than 30 years.
